ADMISSION – 2013

The Institute of Clinical Psychology, University of Karachi, which is the first of its kind in research and specialized training of Clinical Psychologists in Pakistan, has been functioning since 1983.

MISSION STATEMENT: Our mission is to develop an optimum standard of clinical practice, research and professional training in clinical psychology and broadening its scope by grafting its application in other related disciplines.

OBJECTIVES: The Institute of Clinical Psychology is already being recognized as one of the premier institutions in Pakistan. It aims to achieve the following objectives:

- To strengthen and expand the growth of Clinical Psychology as a profession in Pakistan and to impart specialized training in this field.
- To promote research suited to our own social cultural milieu in psychotherapy, diagnostic testing, speech therapy, occupational therapy, rehabilitation and other related areas.
- To bridge the highly disproportionate gap between “demand” (needs of psychologically treatable patients) and “supply” (availability of qualified clinical psychologists).
- To help patients who are mentally disturbed or have behavior problems to function at higher levels, live fuller and richer lives and be able to give more of themselves to their society.
- To stop the draining out of talent: it is expected that students aspiring to be Clinical Psychologists will avail these training facilities, provided within the country in settings which are more culturally relevant to their work environment.
